GET Around Town!

Whether you're looking for an elevated option for getting from one place to the next or a fun way to see the sights around town, we've got you covered with six traditional and non-traditional ways to get a move on in Scottsdale.

RIDE. SMILE. REPEAT.

That's the slogan for Rydables, battery-powered carts designed like a variety of colorful characters from elephants and cows to piñatas and smiling saguaros. Let Kactus Jock take you on a fun-filled adventure to learn about the history of Old Town Scottsdale and explore restaurants, shops and public art along the way.

RENT AN E-BIKE

As in, electric bike! Pedego Scottsdale, located in the heart of Old Town's Fifth Avenue district, rents battery-powered bikes that let you do as much – or as little – pedaling as you'd like while you explore the local galleries, restaurants, shops and museums. Over at Rides N Motion, you can rent electric bikes, Evolve all-terrain skateboards and two-wheeled Phat electric scooters.

TAKE A RIDE

JoyRidesAZ Scottsdale Tours provides golf cart transportation in Old Town and beyond, as well as a variety of guided experiences ranging from wine tasting and culinary adventures to gelato tours and an introduction to Old Town's best Instagram walls. And if you like a good mystery, Puzzle Rides combines the fun of a treasure hunt with the challenge of an escape room on their 75-minute escapades through Old Town.

PEDAL & PARTY

The Arizona Party Bike is a 15-passenger merrymaking machine that cruises around Old Town on pedal power (yours), making stops at three popular local bars and pubs. The bike comes complete with a rockin' sound system, LED party lights and a motor assist – just in case you're having too much fun to pedal.

"LEAN" INTO FUN

For the most excitement you can have standing up, try a Segway tour! It might take a few minutes to master the lean – the movement that makes these two-wheeled fun machines go – but anyone can do it under the guidance of Scottsdale Segway Tours' and Segway of Scottsdale's expert guides.

LET THE PROS DRIVE

Scottsdale's ground transportation providers offer luxury sedan and limousine transportation throughout the city. In addition to airport pick-up and point-to-point transportation, they're also the perfect choice for pub crawls, wine tours and nights on the town. You can even try out Waymo's autonomous vehicles around town! See listings on pgs. 131-132

SCOTTSDALE'S SONORAN DESERT

Sonoran Desert

EXPERIENCE THE STIRRING BEAUTY OF THE SONORAN DESERT

GREAT WAYS TO Get Outdoors

A visit to Scottsdale simply isn't complete without getting outdoors to explore the Sonoran Desert, the lushest, most biologically diverse desert in North America. From thrilling recreational adventures to desert-inspired urban experiences, here are eight great ways to revel in Scottsdale's unique natural setting.

OFF-ROADING

Get your adrenaline pumping and see the desert's pristine expanses on an off-road adventure. Take a guided Jeep or Hummer tour to learn about the Sonoran Desert's delicate ecosystem, or traverse old stagecoach trails and navigate river crossings as you take the wheel in your own Tomcar.

HOT-AIR BALLOONING

In a landscape as panoramic as the Sonoran Desert, there's no better way to soak it all in than in a hot-air balloon. Drift along with the breeze as your pilot guides you high into the air for expansive scenic views or dips close to the ground for a glimpse of wildlife.

SPLASHING

You may be surprised that an easy 60-minute drive from Old Town Scottsdale gives you access to eight lakes and rivers. Take in the desert scenery from the water as you keep your eyes open for javelina, eagles and majestic wild horses.

HORSEBACK RIDING

Get in touch with your inner cowboy or cowgirl on a guided horseback ride. Beginners and experienced riders will enjoy stunning Sonoran Desert views as you ride through rolling mountain foothills and lush desert washes.

GARDEN-HOPPING

The Desert Botanical Garden is home to five thematic trails and 50,000 desert plants. Get acquainted with the fascinating Sonoran Desert plant life, from towering cacti and alluring succulents to brilliant wildflowers and lacy shade trees.

DINING

For a once-in-a-lifetime dining experience, Cloth + Flame offers immersive, al fresco dinners in some of the region's most pristine expanses. Enjoy a cocktail hour, passed hors d'oeuvres and a multi-course farm-to-table dinner among the saguaros under a starry desert sky.

APPRECIATING ARCHITECTURE

For the most unique experience yet, explore a UNESCO World Heritage site and learn about Frank Lloyd Wright's philosophies on blending nature and architecture. Taliesin West's Shelters in The Desert Guided Tour takes you along verdant desert pathways to view dwellings built by apprentices of Wright's architectural school.

HIKING

Take to the trails to fully immerse yourself in the beauty of the Sonoran Desert. With 225 miles of shared-use trails, Scottsdale's McDowell Sonoran Preserve offers the ideal backdrop to get "lost" among the saguaros and wildflowers while you explore trails for all abilities.

POPULAR SCOTTSDALE-AREA HIKES

BROWN'S RANCH TRAILHEAD

SCOTTSDALE'S Best Easy Hikes

BY ROGER NAYLOR

Not every hike needs to be rugged. Sometimes you just want to enjoy the beauty of the desert without breaking a sweat. Try these easy hikes in Scottsdale's McDowell Sonoran Preserve for some gentle adventures. Just remember, easy doesn't mean dull. These also are some of the best Scottsdale hikes you'll find.

KOVACH FAMILY NATURE TRAIL

Family is not only the name, but also the theme of this peaceful trail at the edge of Lost Dog Wash. Interpretive signs along the route explore family relationships of the plants and animals that live in this desert community.

Only 0.5 miles long, the Kovach Family Nature Trail is a double loop laid out in the shape of a scraggly figure-8 at the Lost Dog Wash Trailhead. Named for a family that championed Scottsdale's McDowell Sonoran Preserve since its earliest days, the trail meanders among a fine assortment of cactus. Stately saguaros, burly barrels and adorable but ruthless teddy bear chollas rub spiny elbows with ocotillo, brittlebush and triangle-leaf bursage—all identified by helpful signs. The trail makes a sly and scenic classroom.

Best of all, everyone is welcome. With a level grade and firm surface, the Kovach Trail is ADA accessible, suitable for wheelchairs, walkers and strollers. Everyone can enjoy the picturesque desert setting beneath a broad sky, making this trail perfect for you and your family.

things to bring

Must-haves for exploring the Sonoran Desert.

1 SUNSCREEN: Sunscreen is a necessity no matter what time of year you visit! 2 WHISTLE: If you need assistance, the sound of a whistle carries farther than your voice. 3 WATER: Carry more than you think you'll need for everyone in your party, including pets. Bring at least 1 quart per person for short hikes and at least 1 gallon per person for longer hikes. 4 TRAIL MAP: Maps of Scottsdale's McDowell Sonoran Preserve can be downloaded at scottsdaleaz.gov/preserve. 5 CELL PHONE: A fully charged cell phone is the best item to have in the event of an emergency. 6 SNACKS: Refuel with snacks like nuts, dried fruit, jerky or energy bars. 7 COMB: A fine-tooth comb comes in handy for flicking away cholla cactus buds that can attach to shoes, skin or clothes if you brush against them.

FRAESFIELD LOOP HIKE (WHISKEY BOTTLE – TURPENTINE–BLACK HILL)

Combine three trail segments to weave through a lush basin, shaggy with vegetation and bright with spring wildflowers. It also highlights mountain views, both near and far. From the Fraesfield Trailhead, start on Whiskey Bottle Trail. It rambles for 1.6 miles, making an easy climb along the east flank of Fraesfield Mountain. From this elevated perch you'll see a valley floor veined by arroyos. Water collects in low-lying areas, accounting for the density of desert scrub providing a buffet of browse for deer and javelina.

Hang a right on the Turpentine Trail as it crosses shallow washes, angling toward the rocky hump of Granite Mountain. Fine vertical notes adorn the landscape where saguaros mingle with tall yucca flower spikes, covered in white blooms like butterfly chandeliers. Desert marigold and globemallow add more splashes of spring color. Then in late summer the aromatic turpentine bush is consumed by a cloud of yellow flowers. Anyone who claims the Sonoran Desert is drab hasn't spent much time walking around it.

After 1.3 miles on Turpentine, make a final right on Black Hill Trail as it angles through the scrub back to the trailhead. Savor the views of a horizon capped by the Four Peaks and the Superstition Mountains. The total for the loop is 4.6 miles.

BROWN'S RANCH LOOP (BROWN'S RANCH ROAD – UPPER RANCH TRAIL)

There's a weird siren song to Brown's Mountain that pulls hikers into its orbit. Don't fight the urge; just enjoy the journey. The distinctive formation with the almost-flat-yet-slightly-jaunty top is a centerpiece of the northern section of the McDowell Sonoran Preserve. Combine two very different trails to understand it better.

From Brown's Ranch Trailhead, start on Brown's Ranch Road, a main artery that's wide, smooth and effortless, like hiking the moving sidewalk at the airport. As you begin to wrap around it, the mountain offers intriguing new looks. You'll pass Brown's Mountain Trail (the summit climb) in 0.6 miles, but save that challenge for another day. As the path narrows, vegetation crowds in so it feels like you're burrowing through a tunnel of mesquite, creosote and soaptree yucca. Remnants of the old ranch can be seen with a short stroll down the Corral Trail.

At the Upper Ranch Trail, turn left, climbing partway up the slope for views across the preserve. The trail swings south, navigating an elegant saguaro forest as it squeezes between Brown's Mountain and boulder-crusted Cone Mountain. A series of undulating hills keeps things interesting while also providing a modest workout. You'll traverse lots of little ups and downs, but the scenery is so exquisite it's worth the effort. Consider this an easy hike but with a plot twist. The Upper Ranch Trail finally rejoins Brown's Ranch Road a stone's throw from the trailhead for a 4-mile loop.

TOP FIVE Places to Paddle NEAR SCOTTSDALE

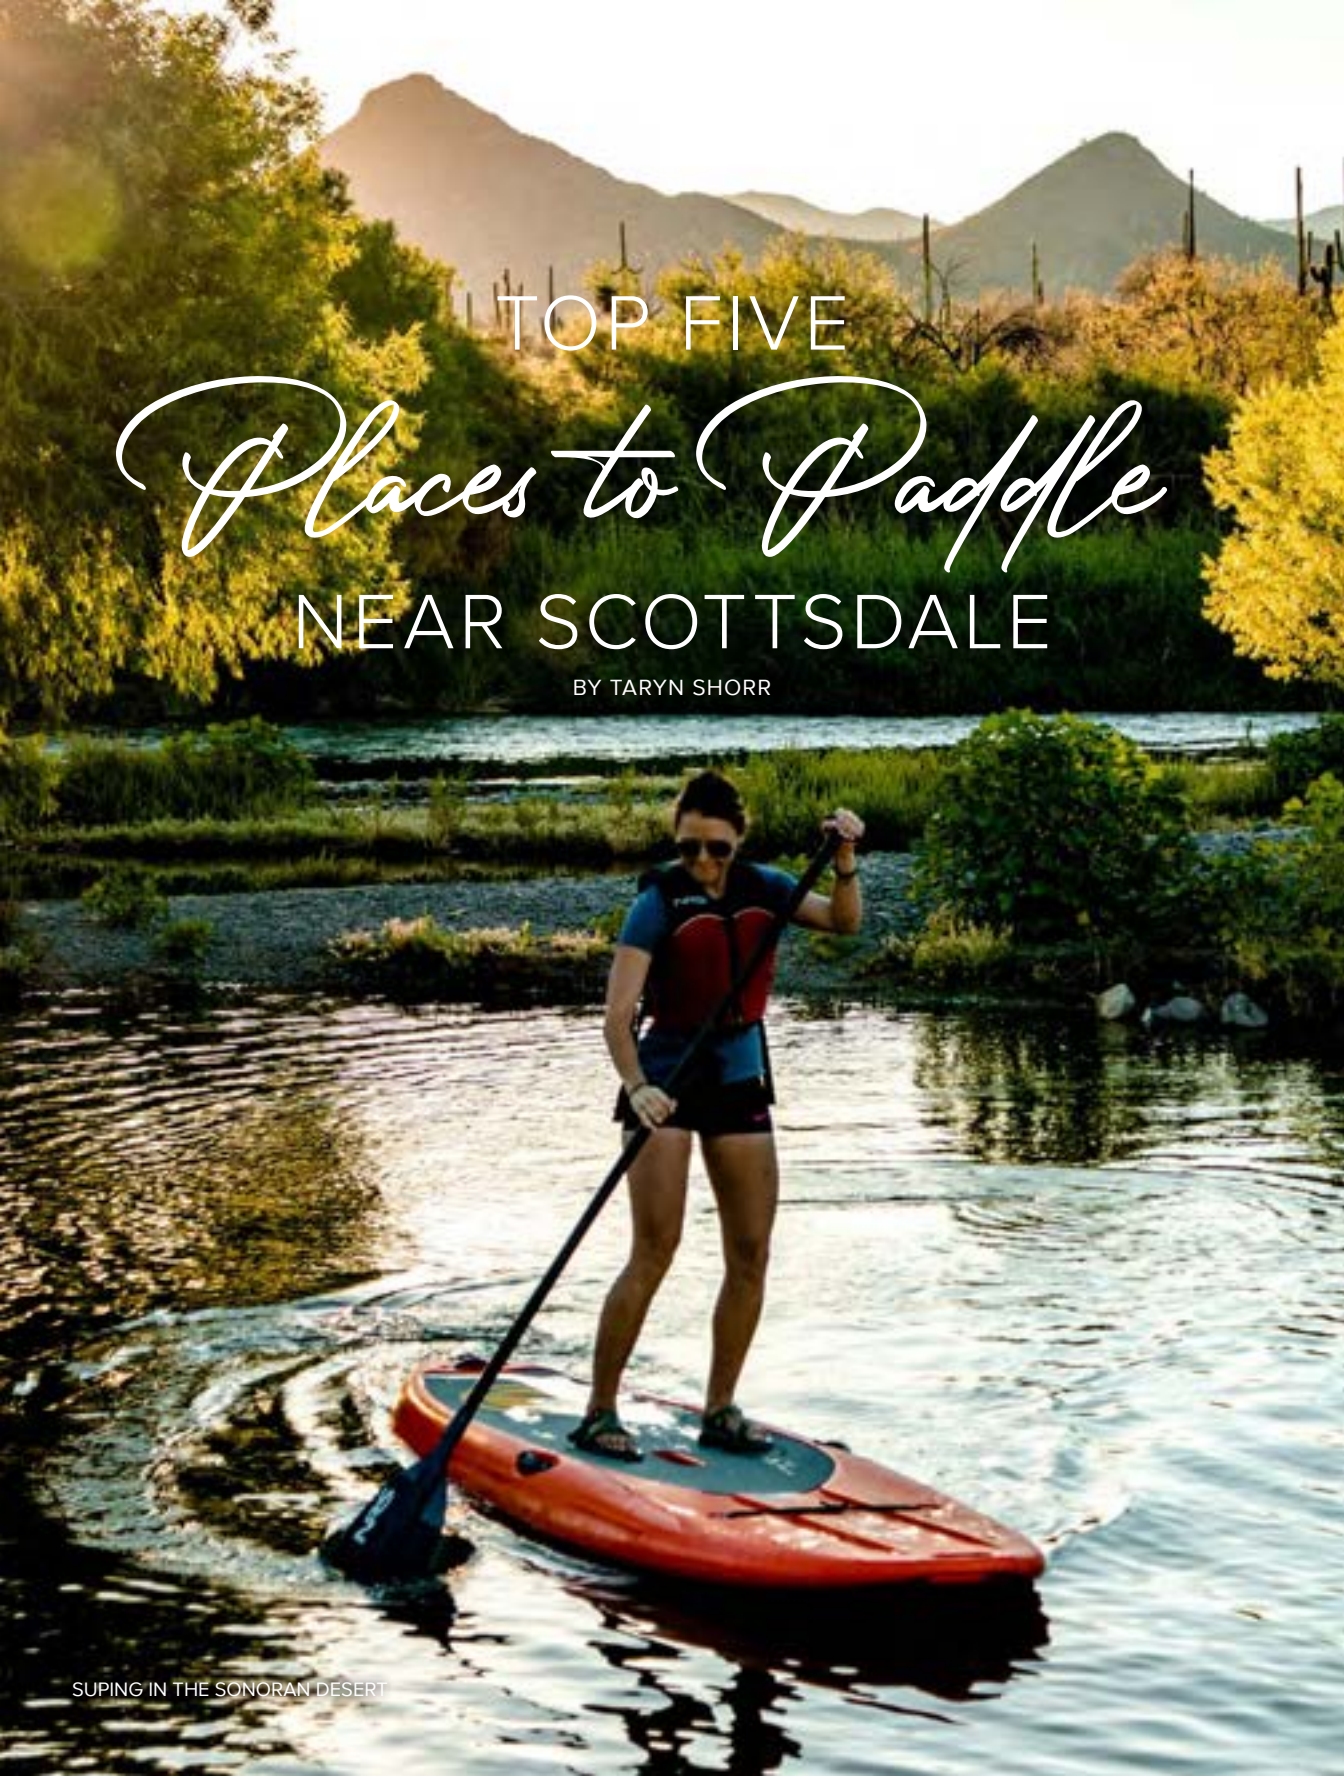
BY TARYN SHORR



SUPING IN THE SONORAN DESERT

SAGUARO LAKE

Scottsdale is renowned for its stunning desert landscapes, luxurious resorts, foodie culture and vibrant nightlife. But bodies of water? Not exactly. However, just a short drive from the city center, adventure seekers will find an unexpectedly different type of tranquility, gliding across serene lakes and rivers.

Paddling, whether seated in a kayak or atop a stand-up paddleboard (SUP), is a fantastic way to both unwind and exercise, connect with nature and savor the beauty surrounding Scottsdale. Whether you're an avid paddler or a novice, these five destinations offer something for everyone.

Number One SAGUARO LAKE

Just 30 minutes northeast of Scottsdale, Saguaro Lake offers year-round paddling amid the rugged Tonto National Forest. Colorful desert cliffs and towering saguaro cacti surround the lake, creating a picturesque backdrop for your adventure (especially at sunrise and sunset).

Saguaro Lake is especially popular for paddle camping and fishing. Exactly what it sounds like, you can fish from your kayak or SUP, or load your gear up and camp along the lake. Riverbound Sports and other local outfitters provide rentals with on-site delivery, and REI's two Phoenix-area stores offer guided adventures for all experience levels.

Number Two BARTLETT LAKE

Bartlett Lake is a hidden gem for paddlers seeking a quieter, less crowded experience. With minimal boat traffic and fewer visitors in general, it's a tranquil spot for kayaking or paddleboarding near Scottsdale.

About an hour north of Scottsdale and surrounded by the Tonto National Forest, the lake is clear and pristine, complemented by gorgeous desert scenery. Another bonus that comes with fewer crowds is frequent wildlife sightings. Keep your eyes open for javelinas, wild burros, eagles and coyotes! Bring your own kayaks or SUPs, or rent on-site at the Bartlett Lake Marina. There also is a variety of classes, including Full Moon Night Paddles and SUP Yoga. Dogs also are welcome.

Number Three LOWER SALT RIVER

If a river is more your speed (literally!), head east for paddleboarding the Salt River (pictured above). Located a few miles downriver from Saguaro Lake in the heart of the Sonoran Desert are several sections ideal for paddling. You'll find both calm sections for leisurely floating and thrilling rapids for more experienced adventurers.

In particular, many people put in at the Phon D. Sutton Recreation Area or Coon Bluff, then paddle down to the Granite Reef Dam. It's important to note that if you're not going out with a guide, you'll need to set up a vehicle shuttle to have cars at each end. Also, while you can technically paddle the Salt year-round, it's heavily dependent on streamflow. You can monitor this yourself on SRP's website; 500 to 1,500 cfs (cubic feet per second) is ideal.

One last thing: Summer on the Salt River means tubing season. Get an early start to avoid the crowds. You have a better chance of seeing the iconic wild horses then, too!

Number Four CANYON LAKE

About 45 minutes east, Canyon Lake is one of the most popular places to go paddleboarding near Scottsdale. As its name suggests, steep canyon walls mesmerize paddlers, while turquoise waters provide a natural oasis in the desert.

With its calm waters and several coves where motorboats are prohibited, Canyon Lake seems to cater specifically to paddlers. The eastern side of the lake is generally even calmer, with no waves to contend with. Vendors also rent kayaks and SUPs at the Canyon Lake Marina, so you can just show up and explore the lake.

Number Five TEMPE TOWN LAKE

For a quick, convenient place to go kayaking or paddleboarding near Scottsdale, head to Tempe Town Lake. Sure, you'll trade unobstructed views for an urban landscape, but you truly can't beat the convenience.

The 2-mile-long inlet was created specifically as a training facility for local rowing and sailing teams (that's right—sailing in Arizona!), so the conditions are ideal for paddling. Several local outfitters organize paddling meetups, offer lessons, and rent kayaks and SUPs (some even deliver to the lake).

In addition to these five places to enjoy kayaking and paddleboarding near Scottsdale, you'll find many others if you venture a bit farther out. Lake Pleasant is just 45 minutes northwest, while Watson Lake in Prescott and the stretch of the Verde River near Clarkdale are considered some of the best places to paddle in the entire state.

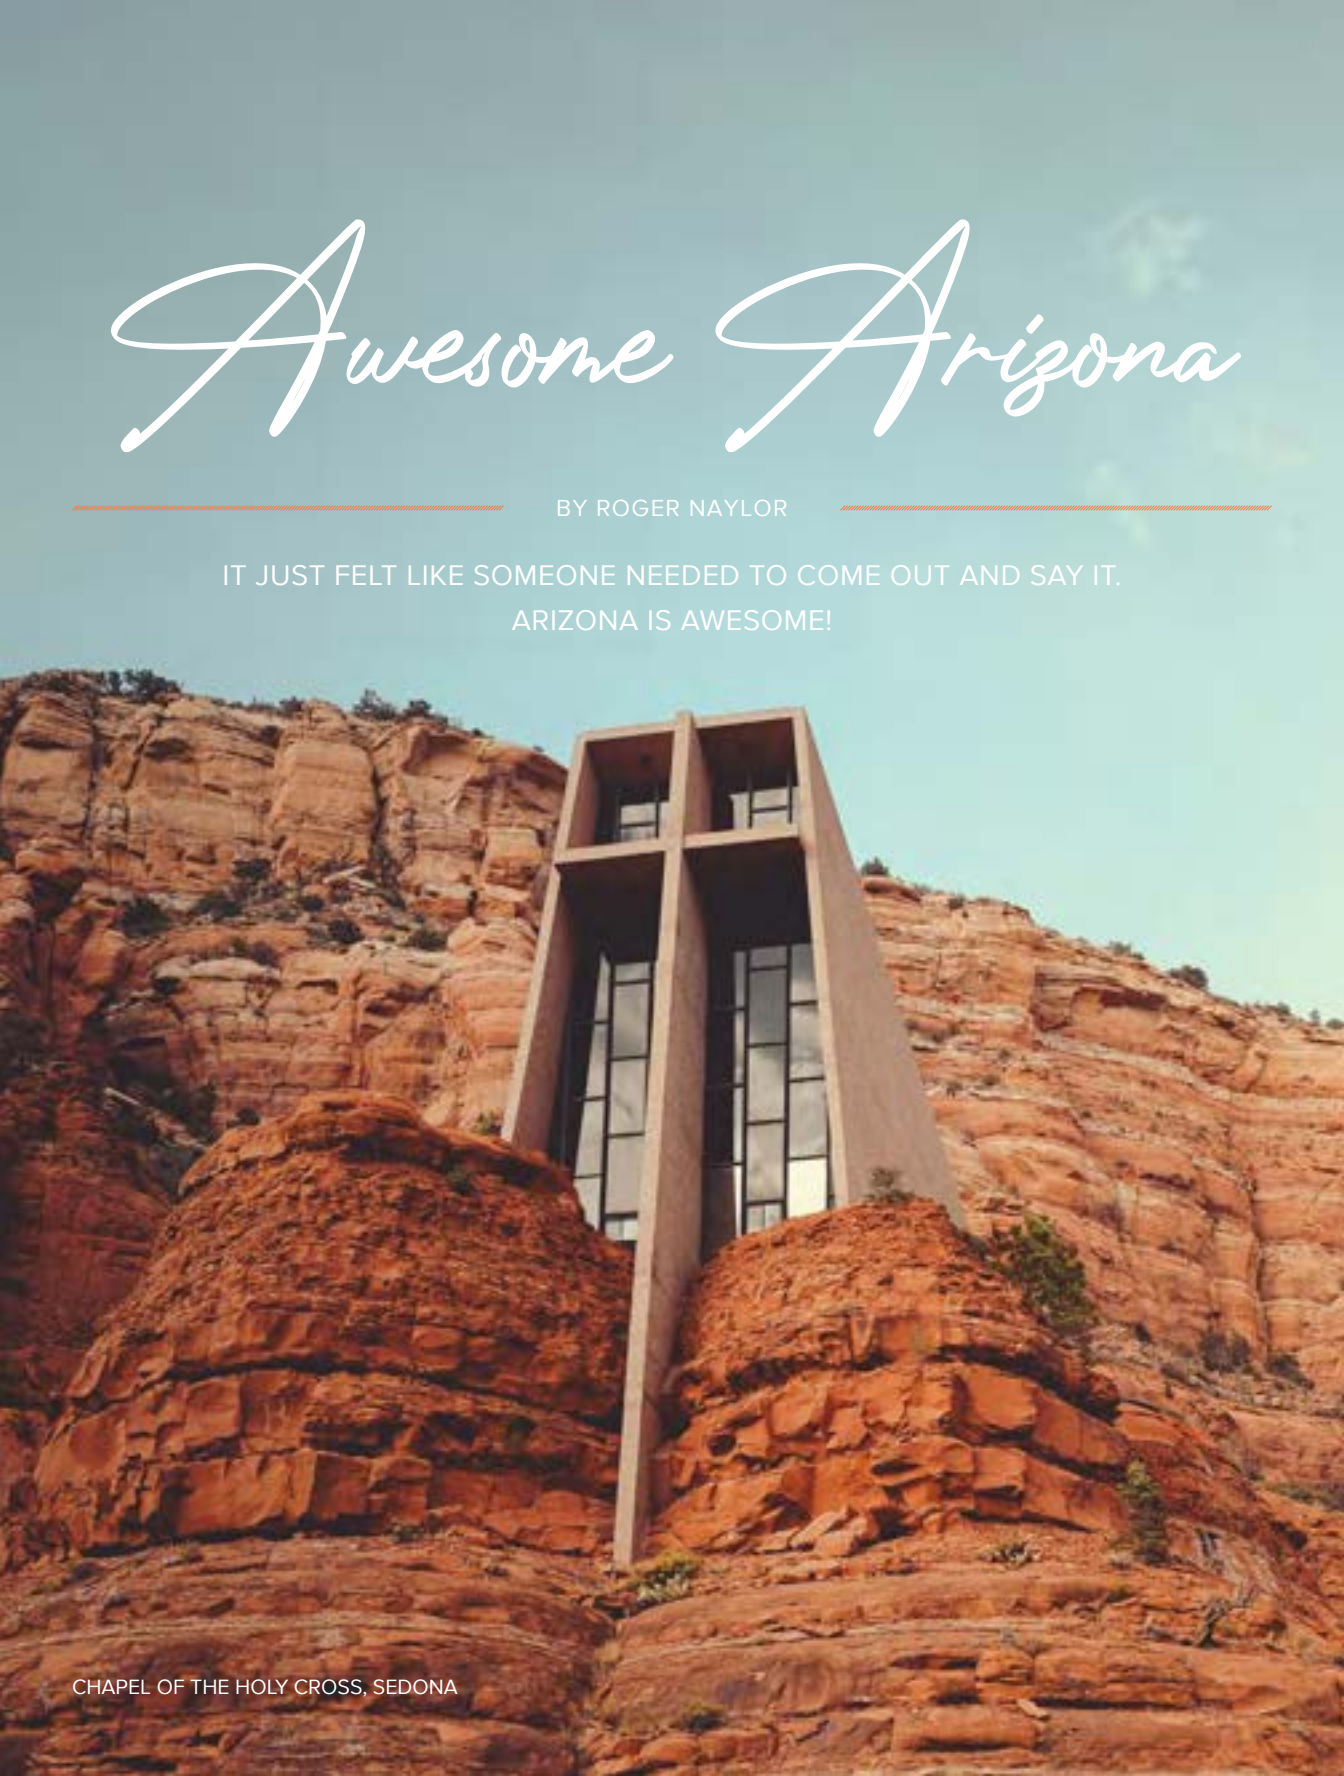
Awesome Arizona

BY ROGER NAYLOR

IT JUST FELT LIKE SOMEONE NEEDED TO COME OUT AND SAY IT.
ARIZONA IS AWESOME!



CHAPEL OF THE HOLY CROSS, SEDONA

Arizona is rugged and gorgeous and historic and weird and funny and utterly magnificent. It's full of surprises, not what most people expect at all. That's why I wrote my book, Awesome Arizona: 200 Amazing Facts about the Grand Canyon State.

I wanted to capture the essence of Arizona, from its wild and woolly past to its breathtaking scenery to its incredible diversity of cultures and terrain. The book is part love letter, part encyclopedia.

So, if you're looking for memorable things to do in Arizona with some incredible day trips from Scottsdale, I've got you covered. Here are five random facts from the book that also translate to top Arizona attractions.

FACT

ARIZONA IS THE ONLY STATE THAT CONTAINS ONE OF THE SEVEN NATURAL WONDERS OF THE WORLD.

At the Grand Canyon, nothing prepares you for the size or scale or intensity of colors. Terraces of temples and castles spill endlessly downward into ancient depths. It feels like you're peeking at God's diary. Hike the Rim Trail, a mostly paved path that stretches for 13 miles along the edge of the abyss, so the views are relentless. Return via one of the free shuttle buses that are constantly in motion.

Browse among the historic buildings of Grand Canyon Village. Dine at historic El Tovar Hotel. The Desert View Watchtower, a 70-foot stone tower designed by architect Mary Colter, stands guard at the eastern edge of the national park. nps.gov/grca

THE ONLY MCDONALD'S IN THE WORLD WITH TURQUOISE ARCHES CAN BE FOUND IN SEDONA.

Sedona has its own style in every way, from tasteful fast-food establishments to a stunning skyline of red-rock mesas, buttes and columns. Jeep tours are a signature Sedona experience amid such impossible beauty. Each company offers signature rides ranging from gentle excursions to boulder-climbing thrillfests.

Tlaquepaque Arts & Crafts Village houses a collection of galleries and restaurants in a setting reminiscent of a Mexican hamlet, with cobblestone walkways and shady courtyards. The Chapel of the Holy Cross, an architectural wonder rising from the red rocks, offers a place for sweeping views and quiet contemplation. visitsedona.com

FACT

THE WORLD'S LARGEST PONDEROSA PINE FOREST SPREADS ACROSS NORTHERN ARIZONA.

In the heart of this forested expanse, Flagstaff nestles at the base of Arizona's tallest mountains. Skiers carve up Snowbowl's slopes in winter. Then in summer and fall, the scenic Arizona Gondola glides up to the mountaintop, offering incredible panoramas.

Flagstaff features a bustling downtown filled with great restaurants, bars and breweries sprawled along Historic Route 66. Take a tour of Lowell Observatory, where Pluto was discovered. Or step back in time with a visit to Walnut Canyon National Monument, where ancient Sinagua cliff dwellings are secreted away in a steep-walled gorge. flagstaffarizona.org

THE WORLD'S OLDEST RODEO STILL BUCKS UP A STORM IN PRESCOTT.

Since 1888, the rodeo has been Prescott's premier annual event—a Super Bowl for the bowlegged. Arizona's first territorial capital, Prescott is a Western town with a comfortable Eastern feel. A stately courthouse amid a tree-shaded plaza anchors one of the state's loveliest downtowns. Take a walking tour and belly up to the bar at The Palace, where Wyatt Earp and Doc Holliday once drank.

Hike or kayak at picturesque Watson Lake, enveloped by the jumbled boulders of Granite Dells. Or rent an electric bike and cruise the Peavine and Iron King trails for intoxicating views of stone, water and sky. experienceprescott.com

FACT

THE WORLD'S LARGEST KALEIDOSCOPE STORE CAN BE FOUND IN JEROME.

Once a rich mining camp, Jerome survived hard times to emerge as a thriving artists' haven. It clings to a mountain slope a mile in the air. Nellie Bly Kaleidoscopes is the world's largest brick-and-mortar outlet for those spinners of colors and shapes, and that tells you plenty about the quirky vibe permeating Jerome.

Walk the narrow, hilly streets lined with historic buildings. Throw down on the dance floor of the iconic Spirit Room, then grab a seat on the deck of the Haunted Hamburger, where the juicy burgers come with a side of panoramas. azjerome.com

MOSTLY A'S: ADVENTURE SEEKER

For you, travel is all about the thrill of exploration. Whether it's summiting the highest peak or diving deep into the ocean, an experience isn't "worth it" unless it comes with a dose of adrenaline. Just remember: Even the boldest travelers need to recoup! Flip to page 52.

MOSTLY B'S: WELLNESS WARRIOR

For you, "healthy" isn't an aspiration; it's a way of life. And that doesn't stop just because you're on vacation. Curious, disciplined and maybe even a bit spiritual, you look for experiences that cultivate calm and balance no matter where you are. Flip to page 58.

MOSTLY C'S: LUXURY TRAVELER

Some say you're "bougie," but you prefer "discerning." Sure, you may be a little extra, but it's not about being lavish for the sake of earning bragging rights (though that never hurts). It's about creating those once-in-a-lifetime moments ... every time. Flip to page 64.

MOSTLY D'S: THE FOODIE

You don't just choose the best places to eat at your travel destination. You choose your travel destination because it has the best places to eat. Farmer's markets, street vendors and critically acclaimed restaurants—you've done your research and planned accordingly. Flip to page 70.

MOSTLY E'S: PARTY PEOPLE

Whether it's a shopping spree, hotel pool party or a night spent dancing and people-watching at the hottest club in town, travel to you is all about finding fun and fresh ways to let loose. And it's a bonus if it's with your closest group of BFFs. Flip to page 76.

MOSTLY F'S: FAMILY UNIT

On vacation, you're always trying to strike a balance between busy/active and nurturing/restful. You seek out opportunities to build lasting memories ... in between snacks and naptime, of course. And at the end of the day, it's really all about the time you spend together. Flip to page 82.

MOSTLY G'S: SPORTS FANATIC

Your travel plans revolve around tee times and kick-offs. You're passionate, competitive and fun-loving, and you believe the best vacations bring out your boisterous nature. It's not that every trip needs to revolve around a bucket list sporting event—it's just better when they do. Flip to page 90.

Where to Play

GET OFF-ROAD

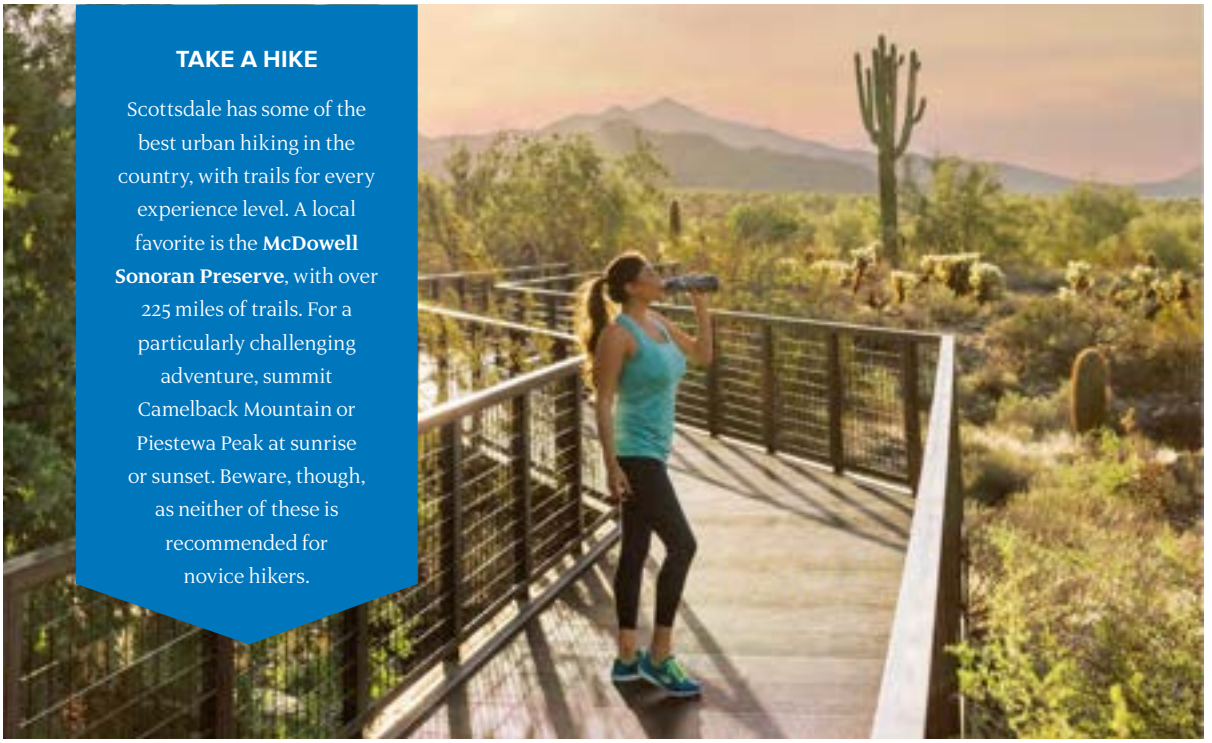
The desert holds so many fascinating wonders just outside the hustle and bustle of Scottsdale proper, and Desert Dog Offroad lets you experience it up close. Year-round, you can choose a u-drive sand buggy adventure, a guided Jeep or Bronco tour, or a custom sunset ride.

SOAR OVER THE DESERT

What better way to spend time outside and have an exhilarating experience than sightseeing from hundreds of feet in the air! Rainbow Ryders and Hot Air Expeditions both offer sunrise flights every day of the year, along with sunset rides from November through March.

GO ROCK CLIMBING

Even the most hands-on outdoors lovers will find epic adventures within city limits. The McDowell Sonoran Preserve has several well-established rock-climbing routes ranging in length and difficulty. For first-timers, local outfitters like 360 Adventures and REI Co-op Experiences offer all-inclusive expert instruction.



TAKE A HIKE

Scottsdale has some of the best urban hiking in the country, with trails for every experience level. A local favorite is the McDowell Sonoran Preserve, with over 225 miles of trails. For a particularly challenging adventure, summit Camelback Mountain or Piestewa Peak at sunrise or sunset. Beware, though, as neither of these is recommended for novice hikers.

Where to Dine

MAPLE & ASH

The vibe and upscale food at Maple & Ash have made it one of the most popular restaurants in Scottsdale. But one thing in particular makes it one of the city's more adventurous hotspots: the "I Don't Give a F*@K" option on the menu. When patrons order the IDGAF, their entire dining experience is in the chef's hands. Think of it like an elaborate tasting menu that lets you try a little of just about everything.

WEFT & WARP ART BAR + KITCHEN

To get outdoorsy at Weft & Warp, you actually have to start with the food. Chefs incorporate fresh, unexpected, uniquely Arizona ingredients into dishes, like juniper in the chocolate truffles and King Salmon mezze, and local honeycomb into the popular "Breaking Bread." Of course, the views of Camelback Mountain from the dining room certainly help bring the outside in, too.

THE THUMB

When it comes to adventures in dining, some might consider gas station fare a bit too risky. But The Thumb isn't your average gas station. This North Scottsdale hotspot was featured on Guy Fieri's "Diners, Drive-ins & Dives" for its award-winning, hardwood-smoked barbecue, which comes slathered in irresistible house sauce. Fuel up with a handcrafted meal and browse The Thumb's artisan gift market – all while getting gas and a car wash!

ORANGE SKY AT TALKING STICK RESORT

The physical location of Orange Sky is an adventure in itself. Situated on the 15th floor of Talking Stick Resort, the restaurant's 360-degree views across the Valley are unmatched. Then there's the menu, which is centered around the four elements—earth, air, water and fire—as well as locally sourced, sustainable ingredients. You'll find unexpected options including bison NY strip, elk loin and boar sausage. The wine list is equally impressive, with an award-winning selection of 300+ bottles.

Immerse Yourself

DISCOVER SCOTTSDALE'S ENDLESS ART OFFERINGS

Scottsdale has long been hailed as a destination for art aficionados of all walks. Today, the city has stretched beyond the canvas to offer interactive installations, bustling art-focused events and creative surprises at every turn.

Each Thursday from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m., the Arts District in Old Town holds its free weekly ArtWalk where visitors can peruse the eclectic galleries and neighboring shops. This after-hours event is the perfect way to spend an evening taking in an array of styles and mediums, complemented by a glass of wine or a delectable bite from any of the nearby eateries.

For architecture and mid-century aesthetic lovers alike, Frank Lloyd Wright's Taliesin West is a must-see. Designated an official UNESCO World Heritage Site, Taliesin West is an illustrious example of shape and form built immaculately into its surrounding desert frame. Wright himself made Taliesin his winter home, and his love and respect for the Sonoran landscape show in every detail.

A wander through Old Town will not only delight and surprise you with numerous statues, sculptures and murals–all part of Scottsdale's city-wide Public Art program–it also will offer you several museums to spend an afternoon exploring. Western Spirit: Scottsdale's Museum of the West pays homage to Arizona's Wild West history. The Scottsdale Museum of Contemporary Art offers not only a regularly rotating display of modern work, but also the acclaimed "Knight Rise," an optical skyscape marvel.

Of course, the perfect end to any art-inspired itinerary should include attending a show at the Scottsdale Center for the Performing Arts. From interpretive dance to symphonies, plays and music festivals, their calendar is chock-full of thrilling performances throughout the year.

SCOTTSDALE'S BEST NEW Restaurants

BY CHRIS MALLOY

Swordfish burritos. Whole pig. Brunch tasting menus. An exciting wave of new restaurants adds punch to a food scene that has been heating up for a few years. Here's where to eat your next great meal in Scottsdale.

COURSE

To Arizona food insiders, Chef Cory Oppold has been a must-follow for his playful, high-end tasting menus. His latest venture is Course: five- and 10-course dinners in an intimate space, meals that give you a tour of unique culinary imagination. Though some plates look like modern art, Oppold manages to keep his food fun and relatable. Focaccia comes with "grilled cheese butter." A "peach Wellington" replaces the old-school beef original. Restaurants in this mold often miss, but Oppold doesn't. On Sundays, try his brunch tasting menu.

ÉLEPHANTE

Confession: This eatery hasn't opened yet. But the ambitious coastal Italian restaurant from LA will be coming to Scottsdale Fashion Square in 2024. What to expect? An elevated evolution of the Santa Monica original. An indoor-outdoor dining experience with, its announcement says, "the ambience of a jungle oasis, characterized by towering cacti, lush florals, natural travertine floors and bespoke furniture." Wood-fired pizzas, fresh pastas, grilled meat and seafood, and family-style offerings will anchor the menu. There will be a wine selection with north of 1,200 labels. Keep your eyes on this high-flying opening.

PESCADA

You'll find one of Scottsdale's great new restaurant patios at Pescada, a white-tablecloth Western European eatery by Chef Sheila Bryson. Food is more formal and can lean creative, with seafood classics like fritto misto and inspired pastas like squid-ink pici leading the way. The cocktail program at Pescada punches above its weight. A nice selection of thoughtful, herbaceous gin-and-tonics sidekick a happy-hour menu of snacks like a trio of house breads and bacalao croquettes. Enjoy them on the porch if you can.

ARBOLEDA

Cavernous, sleek and spiritually anchored by the olive tree in the dining room, this Scottsdale Quarter restaurant cooks dishes inspired by Mediterranean coasts. The menu is pretty much a greatest-hits list of favorites from Portugal to Israel: seafood pastas, lamb meatballs, peri peri chicken, and so on. The dishes from Spain go especially hard, like a luscious, crisp-skinned Iberico pork with frybread and a paella-of-the-day for two. For maximum enjoyment, start at the bar with red sangria.

PICCOLO VIRTÙ

Located in the heart of Old Town, the third inventive Italian restaurant by Chef Gio Osso might be his most eccentric. Dishes move beyond tradition. His carbonara pasta uses grano arso, a specialty flour milled from burnt wheat. His sea bass sports foam with licorice hints. Raw fish (crudo) starters are a menu section worth exploring deeply. These plates are small but mighty, looping in fresh, out-of-the-box flavors. A family-style menu section boasts feasts like a giant Porterhouse, a whole rack of lamb and an 8- to 10-pound suckling pig.

CHULA SEAFOOD GRAYHAWK

This super-chill seafood spot catches some of its own fish in the Pacific Ocean waters near San Diego, sourcing the rest through fishing connections. Chula serves fish raw, fried and grilled. It's all dockside fresh, from generous Korean-inspired poke bowls to cioppino piled high with fried calamari and shellfish. Watch Chula's Instagram for big, ambitious specials. The daily IYKYK order here, though, is harpoon-caught swordfish tucked into a burrito with fries. Yup, that swordfish is caught from Chula's very own boat.

BUCK & RYDER

Diners in North Scottsdale celebrated when standout local restaurant group LGO Hospitality opened Buck & Ryder, a buttoned-up seafood restaurant where the kitchen flies in specialties every day for the raw bar. Getting seats at the bar, plush leather banquettes or outdoor fire pits can be challenging. The kitchen dishes out impressive high-end specialties from meaty crab cakes to seafood towers teeming with lobster, scallops, sashimi and caviar. Steaks are dry aged and sushi options abound.

Worth the Buzz

BY CHRISTINA BARRUETA

Honey is a natural ingredient that has been prized for centuries, not only for its sweetness, but also for its health benefits that include antioxidant properties and immune support. Arizona's diverse landscape influences flavors such as mesquite, wildflower, orange blossom, acacia and desert blue clover, and in cocktails, it serves as a versatile alternative to processed sugar. Here are some creative ways Scottsdale's talented bartenders are incorporating honey into their cocktails.

"TELL YOUR FRIENDS"

The House Brasserie

At this charming Old Town restaurant occupying a historic home built in 1939, Beverage Director Richard Allison helms a stellar cocktail program. For "Tell Your Friends," he uses local mesquite honey, harvested from the blossoms of the mesquite tree, and infuses it with turmeric before blending it with a split base of tequila and mezcal, passion fruit liqueur and lime juice. "It complements the different seasons of Arizona," says Allison. "The mesquite flavors of the honey enhance the smoky agave notes of tequila and mezcal, and the passion fruit balances the cocktail out and brightens it up."

"ZOMBIE"

Toro at Fairmont Scottsdale Princess

"Since we have so many out-of-state visitors, we wanted to do a Southwest variation with local ingredients," explains Senior Beverage Manager John Wilhelm, who accents this tiki classic with prickly pear purée and mesquite honey. Combined with three different styles of rum – Jamaican, Barbados and a spiced rum – along with falernum, grapefruit juice, lime juice and Angostura bitters, the honey provides a mellow sweetness that complements the vibrant tropical flavors. "It has a different sweetness and viscosity and just combines so well with the other ingredients," Wilhelm notes.

"VERSACE ON THE FLOOR"

The Americano

"Aside from helping with your immune system, honey is more complex and has more depth and flavor than a simple syrup," says bar lead Holly Achs. For this best-selling cocktail at celebrity chef Scott Conant's restaurant, vodka is infused with Serrano peppers and Fresno chiles and shaken up with mesquite honey, lime juice and Sonoran Olive Oil Company's coconut white balsamic vinegar before being topped with a cap of velvety egg white whipped with basil and olive oil. "It has lots of layers of flavors and complexity," notes Achs, "and using honey adds earthiness and a bit more body to the drink."

"CITRONETTE"

Course

An artful blend of gin, orange blossom honey, yellow chartreuse, and fresh grapefruit and mandarin juices, the Citronette was created to evoke an oceanside vacation, says General Manager Nicholas Padua, who curates the beverage program. Crowning the libation is a stunning salt and kombu foam. "We use Sheringham Seaside Gin, which has a really fresh zing of citrus but is also made with kelp," says Padua. "The bubbles on top of the drink have sea salt and kombu seaweed for savoriness and salinity, so it's like you're coming up from the ocean and drinking a refreshing citrus cocktail. I love honey as a sweetener, and it also naturally has umami characteristics that combine so well with the seaweed in the gin and the foam."

"HONEY HARVEST SOUR"

Arboleda

Head bartender Richie Moe celebrates honey three ways in this delicious libation by mixing London dry gin with orange blossom honey syrup and a sweet-and-sour honey oleo saccharum (a syrup made by extracting the oils from citrus peels with granulated honey crystals), before garnishing with bee pollen. "I absolutely love honey and gin," says Moe. "It's a classic pairing." To enhance this combination, he uses WorldClass Clementine Earl Grey tea blended with orange blossom, bergamot and clementine before shaking with egg white and decorating with a tangy Aleppo chile and red wine vinegar shrub, Aleppo chile flakes and bee pollen. "Using honey three ways adds a lot of depth and complexity," he notes.
